

Class: Dermaplaning – The Alternative Exfoliation Method

Kira Young (Sunday Instructor)

Kira Young has been in the esthetics industry on the East Coast of Canada for over 10 years, working as a Master Esthetician in some of the most prestigious day spas in Halifax, Nova Scotia. As the Director of Education at EuroBeauty, Kira gets to combine her two loves, education and the esthetics industry. With a background in the sciences, Kira has always been deeply interested in product chemistry and the way it affects the skin. Her self-proclaimed “geekiness,” for all things SPA excites and radiates from her. This unique quality is demonstrated in the way she teaches and works with her peers; encouraging others to embrace their individuality and experiences and share that enthusiasm with spa clients. She is so grateful to be involved day-to-day with spa teams across Atlantic Canada. “It is an absolute privilege to teach others and to create relationships that go beyond the classroom.” Kira has set out to positively add to and perpetuate the spa industry by empowering others to continually grow and expand their knowledge base and skills.

Class Description:

Quickly gaining popularity in the professional skin care industry, Dermaplaning has elevated the skin care service offerings to licenced estheticians. With few adverse effects, a trained professional abrades the surface epidermis using feather-lite strokes, but it's the minimal downtime and obvious maximum results that have perpetuated this service as a spa menu MUST HAVE.

In this look and learn session you will see the before and after results of this service happening in real time, while being able to ask the educator your questions and concerns about offering the service. See it for yourself! Joint us for an in-depth look into Dermaplaning: The Alternative Exfoliation Method.
